

“My teachers inspired a lifelong love of learning – and music. I look back on that time with incredible fondness and gratitude.”

Alice Miller Cotter, graduate of the Grass Valley School District, received her Bachelor of Arts in music from the University of California, Berkeley and her Master of Arts in music from Princeton University. Currently, Alice is completing a Doctorate in music history at Princeton, where her scholarship focuses on the ethics and politics of musical responses to war. She is expanding her research into a book and plans to teach music history and theory at the college level.

Alice considers her years in the Grass Valley School District as among the most intellectually formative of her early education.

My name is Alice Miller Cotter.

I'm a GVSD Alumnus.
